

Hi -

We're the Connors family here in Remsen, and we recently started STUDIO CONNERS around a simple idea:

Bring us a problem, and let's see what we can make of it in a day.

There are plenty of places that sell old things. What First American Pickers has is decades of knowing what you're looking at. We thought that experience, judgment, and the stories behind the things that come through the door deserved a home on the web.

Rather than send you a sales pitch about what we could make, we made something.

Scan this to see the website we imagined for First American Pickers:

studioconners.com/first-american-pickers

If you like the direction, we can give it a full Studio Day - using this concept as the starting point and seeing how far we can take it toward a real, useful website in one focused day.

A Studio Day is $500.

There's no obligation. We just thought you might enjoy seeing what we imagined.
